Your bigger solution...

reflecevolution now has state-of-the-art compaction and blending facilities which can take finely ground particles and produce granules which have greater strength and improved bulk densities that flow more easily and are dust free.

If you require powder to be granulated, our facilities will give you a much better end product because of the sophistication of our facilities and the dedication of our staff. The compaction facilities will produce granules precisely engineered for the 'wetting out' qualities required in your product.

Our modular production line enables us to 'mix and match' to achieve the best configuration for your products and as we operate around the clock, it ensures speedy processing and prompt delivery back to you.

...powders or granules - that's fine by us and fine for you
